

Energy Efficiency Directive Europe's way out of the crisis

Failing to close the gap would mean missing out on:

- Saving €200 billion net per year on energy bills
- Creating hundreds of thousands of new and stable local jobs
- Reducing Europe's ever increasing energy import expenditure

On 28 February the European Parliament adopted a position on the Energy Efficiency Directive that would close the target gap. Negotiations have now entered their final stage.

Ministers, will you close the gap?

Try the Gapometer and measure your ambition on www.energycoalition.eu